RULING SPURS BUSINESS IN WALL STREET

Buying Orders Pour In As Result of News That More Credit May Be Used in Trading

STOCKS HIT NEW HIGH

New York, March 29.—(P)—Buying orders poured into Wall Street today in response to news that more credit could be used in securities trading. Stock quotations advanced a few cents to around $2 a share.

The opening of the market was one of the fastest of the past year or so. Demand was so rapid that the high-speed ticker tape fell behind recording actual transactions on the floor of the exchange by as much as 3 minutes. It was the first time since Jan. 3, 1949, that the tape has been unable to keep up with the market. The tape caught up after a lag of about 20 minutes. Late yesterday the Federal Reserve Board, guardian of the nation's credit, announced that securities could be bought for 50 per cent in cash instead of 75 per cent. The new ruling goes into effect tomorrow, Wednesday.

The announcement caught Wall Street off guard. Lower margin requirements had long been expected but most financial men had guessed that nothing would be done for at least a few weeks.

Several stocks sold at the highest prices of the year, including Montgomery Ward and Loew's.

Washington, March 29.—(P)—Lessening worry about inflation was apparent today in the Federal Reserve Board's decision to make it easier to invest in stocks.

The board, which controls the volume of money and credit, already had made it easier to buy autos, furniture, etc., on the installment plan.

Then last night, it decreed that stocks may be bought after today with cash down payment of 50 per cent as compared to the 75 per cent required for the last two years. The cut was warranted, the board said, by the "general credit situation."

Shortly after the board's announcement board member Mariner S. Eccles said the action indicates a "recognition that a deflation is certainly more imminent." Eccles spoke on a television broadcast.

The board's order was issued in the wake of a flow of government reports showing employment, production, prices, bank loans and sales of many goods coursing down together in early 1949.

Not in four years—since the approaching end of the war made the board in 1945 fearful of inflationary boom spreading out of the stock markets—had the board made securities-buying credit so liberal.

Throughout 1946, when it was sounding the gong against inflationary fires, the board banned grant of any credit to stock buyers.

The shift in the board's views on the economic state were underlined by the fact that easier "stock margin requirements" were authorized on the heels of consumer credit control relaxation March 3. (Turn to Page Seven)

New Move Made In Erie Assault Case

Erie, March 29.—(P)—Otis Smith, 24, who lost the sight of one eye in a struggle with two police officers attempting to arrest him, yesterday was given a hearing on assault and battery charges brought by the policemen.

Both officers, Harry J. Staszewski and William Podolski, have been ordered held for grand jury action on charges in connection with Smith's injury.

At the hearing, Staszewski admitted under cross-examination that Smith did not offer resistance while being taken to the police headquarters last Feb. 19. Smith's right eye was removed as a result of a beating he said the officers gave him. He had been arrested for drunken driving.

Prisoner Uses Self-Acquired Law Knowledge For Freedom

Pittsburgh, March 29.—(P)—A 27-year-old prisoner who used his self-acquired knowledge of law to carry his case to the U. S. Supreme court is free on bail today after serving 10 years and five months.

Elmer Uveges was released from Western State Penitentiary in $1,000 bail yesterday by Judge Sara M. Soffel to await the next step in his battle for freedom.

Uveges, who was sent to the prison in October, 1938, to serve 20 to 40 years on burglary charges, spent much of his time in education and studied law so that he could prepare his own briefs and petitions.

Last December, the supreme court ruled the Pennsylvania supreme court erred in rejecting Uveges' petition for a hearing on

Both Sides Claim Victory As Truck Weight Controversy Faces A Showdown in House

Harrisburg, March 29.—The question of increasing legal weight limits of commonly used tractor-trucks today headed for a showdown in the house.

Both sides made victory claims as the issue that has agitated members of the lower branch for more than a week reached a final vote.

Republican house leaders at the same time slated a tally on a bill to return to farmers at least half of the gasoline taxes they pay on fuel used in the production of food. Little opposition is expected to the measure in final form.

Estimated to cost at least $1,500,000 a year, the measure was originally introduced in the house last week.

It passed the senate several weeks ago and the house yesterday refused to restore it to that form. The senate called for return of all the gasoline taxes farmers pay on fuel used in tractors and farm machinery.

It was the second tax question which the two houses have disagreed. Previously the house rejected a senate proposal to return $2,360,000 to brewers and beer distributors as a breakage fee.

The senate insisted yesterday that the fee should be paid, holding up the temporary levy on beer until the difference can be settled. Some $23,400,000 in expected revenue is involved.

With the house maintaining its stand, a joint conference committee from the two branches will be set up to settle the dispute.

The Senate GOP majority, in holding out for the refund, insisted that brewers have the same right to a breakage refund—it will be five per cent of the tax—as soft drink bottlers and cigarette distributors.

In other actions, the house in a sudden turnabout adopted a previously defeated bill to permit the state's 47 third class cities to decide for themselves if they want city managers.

The senate, meanwhile, passed unanimously a measure granting some 8,100 retired teachers, some of them 80 years of age, minimum pensions of $1,200 a year. At present, retirement allowances run as low as $20 a month for older teachers.

Under the measure, the state will assume the entire expense, estimated at $2,800,000 for the next two years. The measure went to the house education committee already studying senate-passed bills to liberalize the state's public school employees retirement system.

Survivors Of Plane Crash Fight Way Through Jungles

Marikina, Philippines, March 29.—(P)—Thirteen American Air Force men sprawled exhausted on the rocks beside the almost dry Santa Inez river.

They looked up, these grounded airmen, where there were no wings to take them—to the 4,800-foot peak of Mt. Caladang. Twelve days it had taken them to fight their way up there and bring back the remains of nine comrades who had crashed in a B-29 flying tank.

With the American ground team were 16 Filipino guides. They had guided the ground party through the dense jungle of Caladang's lower slopes and over her rocky sides higher up to the place where the tanker hit—12 feet from the top.

Upstream, bearers were emerging from the thickets with the remains of nine fliers who never made it back to Clark Air Base after refueling the Lucky Lady II on her non-stop night around the world March 1.

Capt. M. O. Beck of Compton, Calif., told what they had been through for the 12 days. Most of the others just lay on the rocks and rested.

Beck said the worst part was the jungle undergrowth. "It was so thick we couldn't cut through it," he said. "We climbed over it. It was like walking on treestops."

The party was attacked repeatedly by bees and the leeches were terrific.

The party was without enough food and water for days, Beck said. They were supplied by air but bad weather made the drops irregular.

And the men didn't always get back to civilization. They expected to get back to Clark Air Base, March 31. They flashed tired smiles—"in time for pay day."

The bullet went in under his chin and came out through his ear. Paul was riding in an automobile Saturday with his father, mother, and two brothers when he found his father's 22-caliber pistol in the back seat. The gun went off.

The bullet that passed through the boy's head, grazing his skull, also went through his mother's hair without hitting her head. It then struck the windshield and bounced back into the front seat.

Paul was taken to a hospital here but was discharged soon afterward.

Pittsburgh, March 29.—(P)—Historic Hotel Henry will close at 6 p. m. Friday. Wrecking of the structure will begin in mid-April to make way for a new 35-story skyscraper.

Salisbury, Md., March 29.—(P)—Four-year-old Paul J. Hastings, Jr., is feeling fine today, even though he fired a bullet through his head.

Legislation Extending Rent Controls May Be On Truman's Desk By Nightfall

Envoy From Italy Here To Sign Treaty

Washington, March 29.—(P)—Italy's foreign minister headed for the State Department today to report his country's readiness to join the other western democracies in an alliance against Russian expansion.

The Italian official, Count Carlo Sforza, had a date to see Secretary of State Acheson.

The heard diplomat reached here late last night, well ahead of the procession of rine—and possibly 11—other foreign ministers converging on the United States to sign the North Atlantic Defense Treaty April 4.

Sforza's first words on arrival were to hail the peace, which the Communists have denounced as "aggressive," as an instrument aimed at keeping the peace.

His decision to call promptly on Acheson raised speculation that he planned to devote part of the meeting to discussion of Italy's request for trusteeship control over her three former colonies in Africa.

The United Nations assembly is to decide the future of the colonies during the session beginning in New York April 5. The United States at last report still was undecided about its policy toward two of the colonies—Eritrea and Tripolitania.

Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk said at a news conference yesterday that this country favors returning the third colony, Somaliland, to Italy under a trusteeship arrangement.

Sforza's plan to return to New York last night, the action, strengthened belief that he made the trip for a special purpose.

Italian embassy aides said the foreign minister will be on hand when the Queen Mary docks tomorrow with the foreign ministers of Britain, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

Ottawa, March 29.—(P)—Canada's House of Commons endorsed principles of the North Atlantic pact last night by a vote of 149 to 2.

The principles next will be presented to the senate for its approval. The treaty itself will be placed before parliament for ratification after it has been signed in Washington next week.

Peace Delegate To Confer With Chiang

Nanking, March 29.—(P)—Gen. Chang Chih-Chung, head of the national peace delegation to talk peace with the Communists, reportedly departed for Peking today to consult with retired President Chiang Kai-Shek.

A member of Chang's family disclosed the chairman of the government peace delegation had slipped quietly out of town. Less than 24 hours earlier he publicly announced members of the delegation would not visit Chiang before their departure for Peiping, the Red capital.

Chang's Shih-Chao, another peace delegate, had issued a similar denial.

Efforts to conceal any visit to Chiang evidently stemmed from fear that the Communists would criticize delegates for even contacting Chiang. The Communists consider Chiang their number one Chinese enemy.

The secretariat for the peace delegation also disclosed that Gen. Liu Fei, vice minister of national defense, will accompany the peace delegation to Peiping.

Testimonial For Defense Secretary

Washington, March 29.—(P)—President Truman said last night he is trying to build up a cabinet that can meet the "very great" America is now facing.

"And I think I am succeeding in doing it," he told about 250 top government leaders at a testimonial dinner given for the new secretary of defense, Louis Johnson.

Johnson was sworn in yesterday with probably the most elaborate ceremonies ever accorded a cabinet member. He succeeds James Forrestal, who resigned.

Forrestal received the Distinguished Service Medal from the president in a surprise ceremony when he called at the White House after Johnson took office. The president said: "You deserve it, Jim."

BUYERS' MARKET BACK
Pittsburgh, March 29.—(P)—President Brehon Somervell of Koppers Inc. today hailed the return of a buyers' market in many lines as "a healthy turn of events."

He said Koppers' sales continued at "a favorable level" in January and February, totalling $30,743,000 and giving the firm net profit, before taxes, of $2,237,000, equal to 6.6 per cent common share. Comparable figures for 1948 were not available.

Bride Stands by Milwaukee Youth

Milton Babich, 19, is pictured with his wife, Kathleen, shortly after he was arraigned in a Milwaukee court on a charge of murdering his wife's sister, Patricia Birmingham, 16. Kathleen has indicated she will stand by her husband even though he reportedly confessed killing Patricia and throwing her weighted body into the Milwaukee River. Preliminary hearing on the charges has been set for April 12.

Senate Committee Studies House School Bus Measure

Harrisburg, March 29.—(P)—The senate education committee today studied house-passed legislation to require automobile traffic to halt for school buses loading or unloading pupils on highways.

The measure was steered to the education committee instead of the highways committee by Lt. Gov. Daniel E. Strickler. Proponents of the proposal immediately hailed the move as an initial victory in getting the bill through the upper branch.

"That's fine," commented Sen. Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford), when informed of the move. Mahany already has announced he will press for action in the upper branch.

But Sen. John G. Snowden (R-Lycoming), chairman of the highways, immediately objected. "We already have at least eight senate bills here on school bus legislation," Snowden told a reporter. "I can't see why we didn't get this one."

Snowden added that his committee wanted to study all the measure at one time and incorporate the best feature of each into a new bill. He added he would try to have the measure taken from education and sent to his committee.

Supporters of the house measure, however, indicated they would oppose such a move. They pointed to the fact that the senate highways committee has been considering similar bills since January 17 without action.

The house-passed measure would require traffic to halt 10 feet or more from a school bus except in commercial and residential areas. Bus drivers would be required to pass special tests and buses would be painted a distinctive color.

Price Cuts Announced By Third Car Manufacturing Co.

Detroit, March 29.—(P)—Kaiser-Frazer Corp., already the industry's fourth largest producer, came out today with the biggest postwar automobile price cuts in a bid to further improve its competitive position.

To speed its entry into a "broader mass market" the four-year-old partnership company shifted increasing control into the family of industrialist Henry J. Kaiser.

Edgar F. Kaiser, son of the co-founder of Kaiser-Frazer, was elevated to president. He succeeds Joseph W. Frazer, who was given a newly-created post of vice chairman of the board. The younger Kaiser had been vice president and general manager.

The price slashes range from $198 on the standard Frazer up to $333 on the Kaiser special, the company's lowest priced car.

K-F Sources indicated that although Frazer will remain a board member, Edgar Kaiser will have almost a free hand in guiding the company's new policy.

They said they were not yet prepared, however, to announce new production schedules under the expanded program.

The price reductions were the third in the auto industry in little over a month. General Motors, the biggest producer, cut $10 to $40 off its passenger cars February and up to $150 off its truck prices.

Willis-Overland brought down its prices from $25 to $270 March 17.

Kaiser-Frazer, ranking behind only GM, Ford and Chrysler in production, said its latest action would give "the public the lowest priced big cars in the world."

It said its "best supply position" since it started operations in 1945 with regard to finished parts and basic materials made the reductions possible.

Sen. Paul L. Wagner (R-Schuylkill) also predicted that the measure, once it reaches Gov. James E. Duff, can be approved by him "with enthusiasm."

SEN. BRICKER ATTEMPTS TO HAVE COMPROMISE BILL SENT BACK FOR COMMITTEE STUDY

Washington, March 29.—(P)—Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) tried to persuade the senate today to send the rent control bill back to a conference committee for another working over.

He didn't like a clause which says the housing expediter must set rent ceilings at a level that will give landlords a "fair net operating income." Bricker said he did not believe any two senators could agree what the words mean.

The bill in its present form was worked out by a conference of senators and house members. It must be accepted or rejected as it stands, or else returned to the committee for further adjustments.

Administration leaders thought they had enough votes to beat Bricker's proposal. They hoped to be able to send the bill to President Truman by nightfall. The senate is due to act first, then the house.

After it is approved by the senate and the house it goes to the president for his signature. The bill falls far short of what he asked, but Democratic leaders expect him to sign it.

Unless he does, rent controls will lapse. The current law expires March 31.

The compromise measure extends controls to June 30, 1950; lets states, cities, towns and villages junk controls any time the state governor approves; and directs the federal housing expediter to fix rents at a level giving landlords a "fair net operating income."

That last provision promised trouble in debate today. What does it mean? Who will determine what a fair income might be? What will happen to rents?

Senators Maybank (D.-S.C.) and Sparkman (D.-Ala.) said the housing expediter would be the judge of the "fair incomes." But officials at the housing expediter's declined to estimate what might happen to rents.

Once the rent bill is out of the way, the senate planned to take up the $5,580,000,000 European Recovery bill.

BULLETIN
Washington, March 29.—(P)—The senate today approved compromise legislation to continue rent controls 15 months. The bill also provides for "home rule" decontrol and "a fair net operating income" for landlords.

Senator Connally (D.-Tex.) insisted that the fund be approved intact, despite vigorous Republican efforts to cut its size. Bitter debate is certain and Senator Lucas (D.-Ill.) the emocratic leader, said today's senate session may run into the night.

The house will take up the Marshall plan second-year program tomorrow.

That body faced a double-barreled program today: the rent bill and an appropriations measure.

While the senate is debating rent controls, the house scheduled work on the annual interior department appropriation bill.

Meanwhile, the house committee on veterans affairs planned to have another go at a veterans pension bill. This time it is the smaller economy-size measure introduced by Rep. Rankin (D.-Miss.) after his original multi-billion dollar program was shelved by one vote.

The original measure would have given $90 a month to all 18,000,000 veterans of both World Wars when they reached the age of 65, whether they needed the money or not.

The new bill covers only veterans of World War I. Not only that, but the pension has been cut from $90 to $72, and it would go only to 65-year-olds earning less than $2,000 a year if unmarried, or $3,000 if married. Further, a recipient must have an honorable discharge.

Plan Improvement Of Cherry Grove Road
Senator Leroy E. Chapman, of Warren, said today he had received word from the State Highways Department that bids will be asked for a road improvement project on Legislative Route 61031 between Harris Content and the crossroads at Cherry Grove.

The project will be 5.50 miles in length, and the construction will consist of run of bank gravel surface course, 16 feet wide.

The bids will be opened at Harrisburg on April 22.

Kinzua's New Fire Truck Is Damaged In Unusual Accident
A brand new fire truck, pride of the Kinzua Volunteer Fire Department, was damaged to the extent of $400 last night at 8:30 o'clock, Pennsylvania State Police reported, when it was struck by an automobile.

Police said a charge of following another vehicle too close and failure to stop within an assured distance will be preferred against the Russell district man.

The Kinzua Volunteer Fire Department was organized about the first of the year, and delivery on the new truck from the Penn Furnace and Iron Company was made March 17.

Railroaders Rush Coal To Eager Market

Pittsburgh, March 29.—(P)—Coal-bearing railroads took full advantage of John L. Lewis' green signal block today, pulling long drags of coal cars to an eager market.

Their action was the answer to whether 463,000 United Mine Workers asked of the Mississippi river had obeyed Lewis. The miners to a man had followed their chief's order ending a two-week mine shutdown on schedule.

Less than 24 hours after the stoppage ended yesterday railroad crews came into the coal fields to attach locomotives to cars loaded to the brim. During the early morning hours today strings of empties were shuttled out to mine sidings.

Some 70,000 railroaders were idle during the two-week stoppage. It was impossible to determine the exact number summoned back today. Most were running crews—engineers, firemen, brakemen and conductors.

Many thousands of shop workers remained idle but railroads indicated they would be back at work too by next week. The Chesapeake and Ohio said it would have about 7,000 shopmen report by April 2.

That was the picture in all states where the UMW members quit work March 14 when Lewis called the shutdown. He termed it a memorial to miners killed and injured last year—and a protest against appointment of Dr. James Boyd as head of the federal Bureau of Mines.

The senate confirmed Boyd last week by a 50-11 vote. Some operators feared Lewis wouldn't end the walkout on schedule. But such wasn't the case.

However, soft-coal miners will work a short week. April 1 is observed as John Mitchell Day, in honor of an early UMW leader whom miners call the father of the 8-hour day. A similar holiday is observed in the anthracite fields during October.

Smog Claims 22nd Victim At Donora
Donora, March 29.—(P)—The death dealing smog that has hung over this western Pennsylvania town last October has claimed its 22nd victim.

Dr. William Rongaus, Donora health officer, said Mrs. Alice Ward of adjacent Webster, died last week. He attributed her death directly to the October smog.

Mrs. Ward, who was found unconscious on the floor of her living room on the Saturday of the smog period, was hospitalized and, later, was one of the victims to take the health trip to Wilmington, N. C.

Meanwhile, the Society for Better Living, organized in Webster to combat future tragedies, was studying ways of preventing exaggerated smog conditions in the area.

Webster residents reported the smog last Wednesday and Thursday. The worst since October, when 21 persons died and more than 6,000 were affected.

ARRAIGNED YESTERDAY

Robert C. Irwin, Sr., and Robert L. Irwin, Jr., charged by the sheriff's office and city police with larceny following their arrest in Erie county on Saturday, were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Timothy M. Greenlund yesterday afternoon. Both men entered a plea of innocent and were remanded to jail to await a hearing tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock.

ARRESTED IN CORRY

Corry police Sunday evening arrested Dawn G. Stockton, of Youngsville, on a charge of speeding on North Center street when they observed him swerve around two other machines and pass them at 50 miles per hour, according to the Corry Journal. Police, using their siren and blinker light, chased Stockton about one-half mile outside the city limits before he stopped, the article said.

IN ACCIDENT

Cars operated by George Salapek, Warren RD 3, and Charles E. Knopf, Jackson street extension, were involved in a collision at Pennsylvania avenue and Market street Friday evening about eight o'clock. Salapek told police that he was headed east and was waiting to make a left turn into Market street when his car was struck in the rear by the Knopf car. Damage to Salapek was estimated at $25 and to Knopf about $100.

A member of the senior class of the Oil City high school, she had attended school on Friday and was not believed to be seriously ill until Saturday morning. The daughter of William J. and Avis Mathews Blair, she was born August 18, 1930, in Clarion county. She had attended Rynd Farm and Rouseville schools.

The eighteenth commencement of the institute was held at St. Peter's Episcopal church, Pittsburgh, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Fifty-six persons were in the class and Mr. Bracken graduated from the one-year course of study with honors. He is associated with the Bracken-Keating Funeral Home.

WRECK ON PENNSY

Traffic is back to normal on the Renovo division of the Pennsylvania Railroad following the derailment of two loaded merchandise cars two miles west of Kane Saturday. The train, a regular run known as W-2, was enroute from Erie when the accident occurred. Traveling upgrade the freight stopped quickly and little track damage resulted with one of the cars being derailed on the track bed and the other shoved aside, blocking the double line of tracks. Passengers on the westbound passenger train were transported by bus to points between Kane and Corry while the passenger train was re-routed around Kane by way of Olean. The cause of the accident was not learned, railroad officials said. A wreck train from Ridgway was summoned and was able to clear the line and make repairs in about five hours.

Swanson, and her mother, Mrs. Oscar Lawson, of Highland avenue who with their friends, Mrs. Jennie Danielson and daughter, Miss Florence Danielson, of Warren, are enjoying a trip through Florida. Their first objective was their motor trip to Key West where they were joined by Mrs. Swanson's son, Minor Swanson, who has just received his discharge from the U. S. Navy. Minor Swanson, while in the navy, had the honor of being the personal navy guard of President Truman while he was on a fishing trip in the Key West waters.

Dairymen To Convene At French Creek

Warren county members of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association will hold their monthly sub-district meeting at French Creek, April 2, according to A. Morelle Cheney, of Bemus Point, League district director, who will preside at the session. Delegates will convene in the Marks United Brethren Church Hall and dinner will be served at noon.

Guest speaker at the meeting will be V. O. Farizo, of Scranton, manager of the membership service department.

In addition to conducting routine business, members are expected to discuss recent milk marketing problems. One of the current issues of interest to dairymen is the newly proposed formula method of pricing Class I-A fluid milk. The report, promulgated by the New York Milk Shed Price Committee, which is comprised of college and economist marketing specialists from New York and adjacent states, was recently released in Syracuse.

The 657 locals of the Association have recently concluded conducting business meetings and elections at their annual meetings. Members have had an opportunity to participate in open group discussions and have gained a deeper insight into activities of their organization by the reports presented by county presidents and directors.

Chapter 11

ELLEN's eyes widened as she continued her story. "What Dr. Bray told me that night was a story of the filthiest low-down trucks ever perpetrated by a human being. It all goes back to what happened a long time ago, about twenty years ago, when Dr. Bray was a high school chemistry teacher in Memphis. His real name he told me, was David Brooks. He had been married for a few years and they had a son, about a year old at that time. Well, both the boy and his wife had been very ill and they just couldn't see their way to paying all their debts. Dr. Bray or Brooks was desperate, and finally he hit upon a scheme to make some extra money.

"He rigged up a still in the laboratory and spent evenings and weekends distilling alcohol. It was during Prohibition and so he had no trouble selling the stuff to some of the local politicians." She sneered contemptuously.

"Shortly afterward," she went on, "he found out that the politicians in turn were handing the stuff over to some of the speak-easies which were doing a flourishing business with high school students. Dr. Bray drew the line at that. And that's just what he told me. Dr. Bray realized that. Besides, he was thinking of the effect it would have on his wife and especially on Jimmy. You see, Jimmy didn't know anything of the old story. And so Dr. Bray did the best thing and kept quiet and resigned. And Dr. Hubbard became chairman of the department." She stopped speaking and stared at the sugar bowl.

"But that was five years ago. What happened a week ago Sunday night?"

She shrugged herself.

"Oh yes, well Jimmy has developed a bad cough this winter and his doctor told Dr. Bray he ought to take him to a milder climate. Dr. Bray had an offer from Arizona which would have been an ideal place for them.

"Dr. Hubbard was very depend-

Chapter 12

"ONE thing about Hubbard," Ellen remarked. "He always managed to find the one sensitive spot in a person's makeup, and then go to work."

"Nice guy," commented Raff.

"Yes, delightful. Although I must say this for him he never really tried to do anything mean to me. Oh, there were little things, for instance, he'd have his own office hot as Hades with an electric heater going all the time. So of course he'd make me come into his office to take dictation. Just little things like that. But nothing really despicable. That is—not until I resigned."

"When did that happen?" he asked curiously.

"That was Wednesday the day before yesterday—the day before he died."

Raff frowned and then quickly assumed a sober look.

"Was there any specific reason for your resigning?" he asked seriously.

"I was just getting fed up with the whole situation. I guess the last straw was just as soon as he got his degree. He's an awful hard worker. He has a job working evenings at a soda fountain downtown. He's married and his wife just had a baby so it's really quite a struggle for them to make both ends meet and still keep him in school. The one thing that sustains them is the thought of this nice job Bill will have when he gets out."

"Well, to really appreciate what kind of a low truck Hubbard pulled off, you'd have to know Bill. He's a terribly nervous kid generally, and especially so this last week since he was supposed to take his preliminary exams. That was Wednesday when his exam was scheduled—at four-thirty in the afternoon. All that morning and early afternoon Bill was really in a stew. He had a long list of items he was going to look up before the exam. Dr. Bray and Fenton were both going to help him. It was all going very well until Eddie Worden—you know that freckle-faced boy you saw this morning—well he took Hubbard from his nap. T. at that was about a quarter of three. I was at the mimeograph office then. They'd do the alterations that a fire had broken out in the waste-basket in Hubbard's office. The chief was in there asleep at the time."

"Who was Hubbard?"

"Yes, he always used to take a nap between two and four every afternoon. I told you that Dr. Bray used to do all the real work around the department. Well anyway Eddie made so much noise in pulling the fire out that Hubbard woke up and that's all that was in a very nasty mood. Especially since Eddie had gotten the hose to put out the little fire. He managed to get everything in that corner soaking wet—all the books, the desk, the floor—everything. Bill Griffith was there, so to speak, and that I should notify the chief for being mad over that."

"What did Hubbard do?"

"He bawled Eddie out and then he turned and bawled out everybody who had come to see what the racket was about. And unfortunately Bill Griffith was there so to speak. Hubbard decided to have the exam immediately. And Bill fumed. Fenton told me afterward that Hubbard was in such a vile humor that even Darwin himself would have flunked that exam. And so of course Hubbard left word that I should notify Bill that he was fired. That means he can't get his degree. No degree—no job. Oh the chief was a pleasant character all right. She was silent for a few minutes, and then—

"There was some talk that Eddie purposely made all that racket to get Hubbard in a nasty mood, because Eddie and Bill didn't get along any too well. But even so, it was childish and mean for Hubbard to use Bill as a scapegoat."

"I meant to ask you about Worden," said Raff. "What sort of person is he?"

"Well, Eddie can be pretty obnoxious when he wants to. And he doesn't get along any too well with people, at least not around here. He takes offense at trivial remarks and then carries a c. b. on his shoulder and tries to get back at them."

"Sounds as if you don't care much for him."

"On his right, really. And at times he's very accommodating. But sometimes he's kind of sneaky, and that does make me mad. He wanted to shift the desks in his office. Eddie shares the office with Paul Russell—he's another graduate student. And Paul objected to this. So what does Eddie do? He makes an appointment with Paul to go skating the other afternoon with two girls, and then he doesn't show up. Instead, while Paul was at the rink, Eddie shifted the furniture and got rid of some of the Essure Cawings. Paul had that. Eddie didn't want around. And then Eddie bragged about the fast one he'd pulled."

"I was wondering about that this morning. Doesn't it seem strange to you that Worden should walk into Dr. Bray's office to use his typewriter?"

"Anything in this department anybody walks into anybody else's office any time at all—except Hubbard's, that is. And the type-writer belongs to the department, so anyone can take it into his own office. Oh, I know what you're thinking, but Eddie would never have hurt Dr. Bray. He was the only one around there that Eddie really liked. He used to consult Dr. Bray and no one else about his thesis research and go to him with his troubles. No, you're really wrong there. As much as it's possible for Eddie to like anyone, he certainly liked Dr. Bray. I think, besides myself, Eddie is the only one around there who will miss Dr. Bray."

IT'S STILL A NOBLE CALLING

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is quoted as saying she can't imagine why her son, Franklin, Jr., or anyone else wants to get into politics. This may seem a strange remark from a person whose name is associated with political distinction and who takes an active interest in politics herself.

It is not hard to imagine, however, that when she made she had in mind the pressure and bitter criticism and exhausting responsibility that a political career sometimes brings. Yet we feel that Mrs. Roosevelt on reflection, might be willing to modify her statement.

As it stands now she sounds as if she were subscribing to the familiar blanket of criticism which the thoughtless are fond of spreading over all politics and politicians. But the fact that there are hypocrites and dishonest men in the profession does not mean that politics cannot be the highest form of public service that a citizen can render. If no one wanted to go into politics we should have anarchy. If only a few wanted to we should have a dictatorship. We believe Mrs. Roosevelt would agree to that.

JOBLESS ENGINEERS?

Two members of the Hoover Commission, Senator McClellan of Arkansas and former Congressman Manasco of Alabama, have taken issue with the commission's recommendation that civilian functions of the Army Corps of Engineers be transferred to the Interior Department.

Their objections, we believe, deserve serious consideration. The Corps of Engineers is a skillful, experienced organization. There has been no quarrel with its efficiency. Its civilian functions, such as flood control and river and harbor development, contribute to the time that they provide peacetime training.

A transfer of those functions would add to government labor costs. It would reduce the Corps of Engineers and impair its effectiveness in a military emergency.

It would seem that there is a valid objection to this item in the commission's list of generally wise and valuable proposals.

An important event in the lives of boys in and around Warren is scheduled to take place this evening at the State Armory when the Hot Stove Baseball League will hold its first big rally. Since all boys between the ages of nine and 15 along with their parents, from Warren, Starbrick, Glade, Venturietown and North Warren, are invited, it is a foregone conclusion that a capacity crowd will be present to enjoy the program arranged by the sponsors of the project which will include a talk by a former "big leaguer," refreshments and movies. Boys planning to attend are reminded that if they have not already registered they may do so at the Armory doors starting at 6:30 o'clock, at which time membership cards in the League will be distributed.

Russian authorities in Germany, through their German spokesmen, have proposed that Ilse Koch, the lampshade maker and grand old lady of Buchenwald, be turned over to them when she is released from her brief American imprisonment.

We second the motion.

LENTEN SERMONETTE

The Rev. Palmer N. Taylor,
Methodist Church, Russell

PRAYER AND PEACE

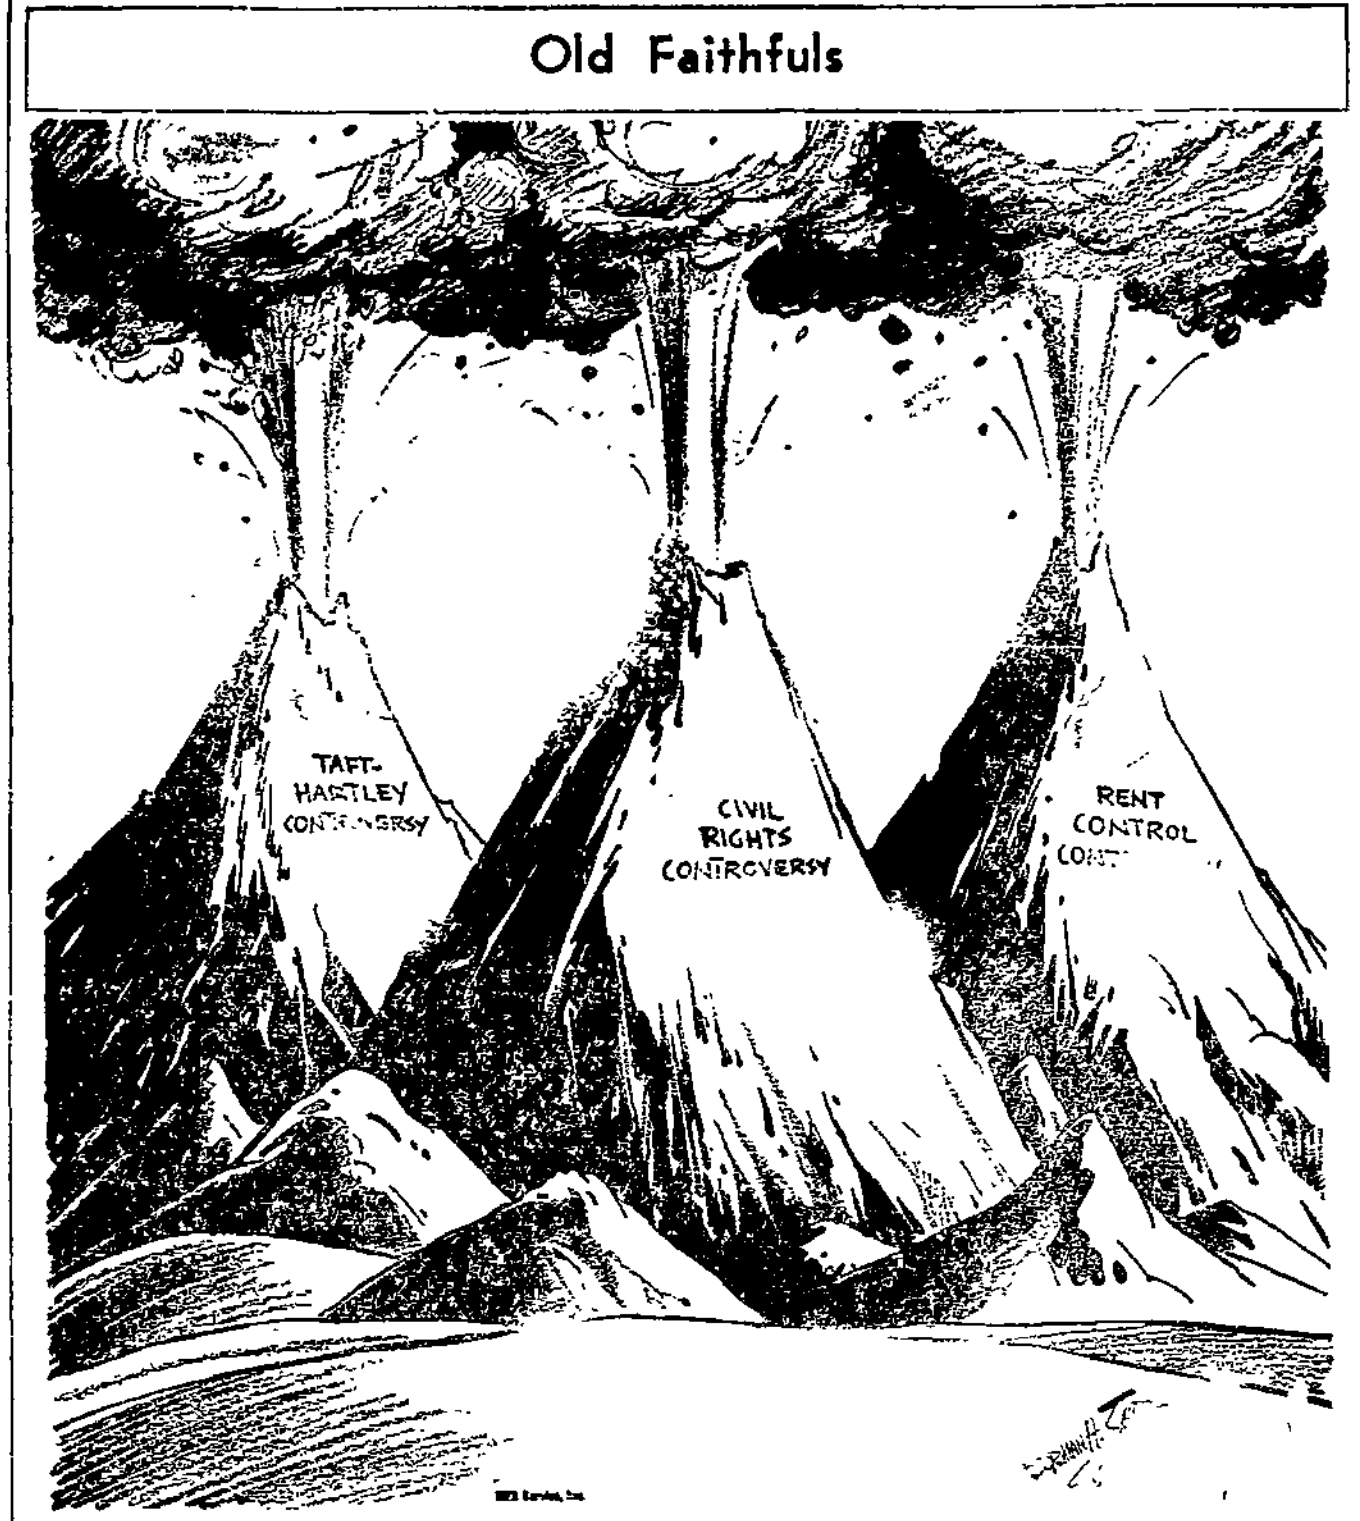

During these Lenten days our minds are quite apt to center upon two pictures of our Lord: Gethsemane and Calvary. Before the cross came the crisis; before the sacrifice there came the struggle. Calvary called for prayer. Prayer was a habit with our Lord and we would expect it at such a time. If the Son of God felt the need for prayer, how much more do we need it. When He was facing the whole problem of salvation from sin or the entire race of man-kind, prayer for strength helped Him save the day. It can do much for us.

Christians, as ambassadors of the Lord, must still face the problem of universal sin. However, one form of sin—that of war—still haunts the world; for its shadow lies low. We are trying almost every possible scheme for the dispelling of that shadow, but our hearts are not satisfied with our efforts. Is it not strange that we too largely ignore His way? Prayer brought a cross, it is true; but it also brought about that salvation which brings peace to human hearts everywhere.

TO YOUR KNEES—YE PEOPLES AND NATIONS OF ALL THE EARTH! HE KNOWS THE WAY. HE IS THE PRINCE OF PEACE.

How gladly would He answer the prayer of all mankind with this blessing:

"Peace, I leave with you,
My peace I give unto you:
Not as the world giveth,
Give I unto you.
Let not your heart be troubled,
Neither let it be afraid."

Old Faithfuls

For almost a month we have been searching through the files of the papers printed in the spring of 1892, to find something about the founding of the Warren Lodge of Elks. Monday we were rewarded when we came across the following, printed on the first page of the Evening Mirror of March 31, 1892: "The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks was instituted in 1867, with the prime motive of dispensing secret and unostentatious charity. Born of brotherly love it is designed to offer its members the certainty of warm hearts and welcome hearths in the various cities to which business or pleasure may summon them." It's social phase is such that brought together in the light of charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity, the brothers arrive at a clear conception of the true claims for consideration of its members. It expends more in secret charity than any similar organization in the world. We are pleased to note that a lodge of this order was instituted last evening in Warren to be known as Warren Lodge No. 223, with the following officers elected for the coming year: Exalted ruler, Amos C. McAlpin; leading knight, Wm. A. Greaves; esteemed loyal knight, George S. Davis; esteemed lecturing knight, Wm. S. Pierce; secretary, Joseph A. Schofield; treasurer, Ed C. Knupp; tiler, F. E. Reed; trustee, D. D. Reed, H. P. Hunter and B. G. Gregory. Under the efficient management of Exalted Ruler Harvey and 25 members of the lodge, the institution of lodge and installation of officers were carried through in a most perfect manner. A social session followed which will be remembered with great pleasure by all who participated. Throughout it was a great credit to the Elks gentlemen. Warren lodge is to be congratulated on its auspicious birth."

Potpourri: It will interest many motorists in Warren county to learn that Charles B. McBride, county highways superintendent, has announced that the Bemus Point-Slow ferry will begin operations for 1949 on April first. The April first opening date, if weather permits, is one of the earliest in several seasons. Hours of operations will remain the same as in the past, with the ferry the only craft of its kind on the lake, beginning its daily trip at six a. m., continuing until one a. m. the next day, seven days a week. . . . The average physician in private practice in Pennsylvania donates six hours a week to charity patients, equaling approximately ten per cent of the doctor's total working hours, according to Medical Economics Magazine. . . . Among all Pennsylvania physicians, this is a total donation of $3,276,000 charity hours annually with a dollar value of more than $12,285,000, states the article. . . . It may be pretty much of a coincidence, but it must be admitted that it is very appropriate that tonight's Hot Stove Baseball League rally at the State Armory should be staged during Boys' Club week. . . . About time for those Complanter Indians to show up in the business section selling sassafras root. . . . And fresh horse-radish roots are another spring-time delicacy that should appear on the market most any day, along with new rhubarb. . . . John C. Meikle, Washington, D. C. secretary of the Mooseheart Board of governors, and former secretary to the late James J. Davis, director-general of the Moose, will be guest speaker at a big meeting being arranged by the Bradford Lodge for April 6. . . . Past Exalted Ruler of the Warren Lodge of Elks are scheduled to get together around the dinner table this evening and talk over plans for future activities. . . . Library theatre patrons should keep in mind that the new setup for the weekly "party of games on the stage" depends upon a registration of approximately 5,000. If you haven't registered you will be doing the management a favor by filling out one of the cards as early as possible. . . . Lots of cars and trucks around town without those new 1949 license plates. Better hurry. . . . Corry officials are making plans for a turnout of several hundred persons at next Friday night's open zoning hearing in the wake of the report that 750 residents have signed petitions as being opposed to zoning. See you at the Hot Stove Baseball league rally!

U. S. Industries Slow to Take Advantage of ECA Guarantees

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The Marshall Plan will be a year old on April 2. But thus far only five U. S. manufacturing companies have made deals for Economic Co-operation Administration dollar convertibility guarantees on private capital investments to establish or enlarge their foreign production.

If all 12 of the projects now under consideration are approved, it will still be no great shakes. When Marshall Plan legislation was first being considered, there was much big talk by some business leaders that European recovery was a job for private enterprise—not government. It was claimed that if American businessmen could just be turned loose, Europe would be back on its feet in no time.

The record of the first Marshall Plan year, however, shows that there has been no great rush of private capital to invest in Europe. Most important of all, however, is an apparent lack of confidence in the European situation. Under the law, ECA is not permitted to guarantee profits to American firms investing in Europe. All that ECA guarantees is that whatever profits the investing company makes can be converted into U. S. dollars for repayment to the investor, up to the amount of his investment. This doesn't seem to be enough of an inducement to prompt foreign investment.

IT is for this reason that the House Foreign Affairs Committee, in legislation covering second-year Marshall Plan operations, proposed stronger guarantees. They would protect American investors in Europe against loss through seizure, confiscation or destruction in time of war. They would also remove the limit on the amount of foreign currency profits convertible to U. S. dollars.

One other objection which U. S. business has voiced against making investments in Europe is a fear that by building up competitive production of American products in European branch factories, the market for U. S. exports of the same products will be cut down.

In one sense this is regarded as destroying American jobs—taking work away from American labor. This is true as far as it goes, but it is not the whole picture.

The other part of the picture is that if European production for self-sufficiency and reduction of trade deficits are not encouraged, the United States will have to go on pouring out billions of dollars for the food, raw materials and manufactured goods now being given away under the Marshall Plan.

Any sane appraisal of this situation must show that this kind of financial drain can't go on forever, or the great American taxpayer will go bust. Building up Europe's own production is the only answer.

CAT-AND-MOUSE GAME PLAYED FOR YUGOSLAVIA

By SIGRID ARNE
(For DeWitt MacKenzie)
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Washington, March 29—(AP)—Yugoslavia's capital, Belgrade, is now the locale of one of the more exciting cat-and-mouse games among the diplomats. Stories out of there will bear watching the next month or so.

The prize played for is nothing less than a nation. Will Yugoslavia stay on the Kremlin leash, or will she join the western world? Diplomats here point out that if Yugoslavia's dictator, Marshal Tito, finally breaks with Moscow and allies his nation with the west, the defection will certainly raise debate in other middle European capitals—Sofia, Prague and Warsaw, among them.

Yugoslavia came out of World War II with Moscow-trained Tito at its head. It became a party to the security and trade treaties through which Moscow set out to bind middle Europe to Moscow plans.

Then last summer, to the surprise of the western world, the cominform cast off Tito, saying he was pursuing a "Nationalistic" policy.

Tito has countered in several speeches since then. They add up to a Yugoslavian fear that the nation would be forced, under Moscow planning, to act as merely a source of raw materials to the rest of the Soviet bloc.

And Yugoslavia, like so many other nations today, wants to do more than empty out ores and cotton and wheat for some other nation's factories. It wants some of its own factories. Yugoslavia has valuable mineral deposits. It wants, at least, a small steel industry.

Moscow promised Yugoslavia some machinery, but there is no certain way for Washington trade experts to know whether Russia ever delivered. Tito's worries about his nation staying a raw material supplier, however, would seem to indicate that Moscow forgot to deliver the machinery she promised.

Since last mid-summer Tito and his nation have lived in a half-world.

They were tossed off by the Cominform, which binds together the Soviet Union and its satellites. They were cut off by the western world since late 1946, when the United States ordered that no materials with a war potential could be shipped into the iron curtain area. That embargo has become almost complete.

Last December Tito told his nation that trade with the Soviet Union would also be cut short. Moscow has decided that it would ship to Yugoslavia in 1949 just one-eighth of what it did last year. So Yugoslavia lives half isolated both from Communism and Democracy.

Legion Auxiliary Members Enjoy Pleasing Program

At its regular meeting, Chief Complanter Unit, No. 135, American Legion Auxiliary, was privileged to hear an outstanding program that was gratifying from an educational viewpoint as well as delightfully entertaining.

Mrs. Freeman Peterson, community service chairman, reviewed the extensive list of agencies in Warren that render service to the community directly and indirectly, reminding everyone of how richly Warren is blessed in this respect.

Her sub-chairman, Mrs. Leonard Knapp, ably presided for the remainder of the evening, introducing Mrs. Lenore Jordan, Warren county probation officer, who explained interestingly her work in this capacity and presented the scope of this service.

Elyon Swanson, in his own inimitable style and ably assisted by Miss Adelaide Swanson at the piano, received generous approval of his solo numbers, graciously responding to encores.

Florence Hill, chairman of Pan American study, boasted of her associations in earlier years with the three figures so prominently in this splendid program, Mrs. Knapp, Mr. Swanson and Miss Adelaide, all having been pupils of Miss Hill in Warren's public schools where she has been a teacher for a number of years.

Miss Hill continued with a most interesting talk on Venezuela, the Pan American country chosen for this year's study by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Not only was Miss Hill proud at this meeting but Chief Complanter Unit as an organization is always happy to boast of her being a charter member, the unit's first treasurer and the fact that she has continued to share her time and talents in furthering the worthwhile projects undertaken by the Auxiliary. In deference to her, the membership voted to sponsor a Girl Scout troop at South street school.

It is the continuing interest of such exemplary members as Miss Hill, Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Jordan that has contributed greatly toward the prestige the American Legion Auxiliary enjoys today.

Mrs. George Cobb, unit president, announced that Deshon gifts will still be received at the next regular meeting.

The business session was preceded by a tureen dinner, with Olive Tucker and her committee as hostesses.

Party At Garland For Anniversary Of Claude Prices

Garland, Mar. 29.—Two hundred relatives and friends gathered in the Garland community center Saturday evening, March 19, to honor Mr. and Mrs. Claude Price, who were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

The room was beautifully decorated in gold streamers, which gave the scene a fairyland appearance. Before an altar of white and gold, banked with yellow roses and daffodils, the bride couple of 50 years ago repledged their vows, Rev. E. W. Chute, of the Methodist church, officiating.

The traditional wedding music was played by Edith Mandaville Carlson, a friend of the family. Preceding service, Eleanor Parker, of McKean, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" and, at its close, Rachel and Janet Upton, of Jamestown, N. Y., sang "When You Were Sweet Sixteen," "I'm Sending You a Big Bouquet of Roses" and "Indian Love Call." Edith Carlson played "The Lord's Prayer" as a closing instrumental selection.

Delicious refreshments were served buffet style from a table at which a beautifully decorated cake of several tiers, topped with miniature bride and groom, formed the centerpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Price were married 50 years ago in Grant, N. Y., Rev. Allen officiating. Both were born and raised in Garland. Mrs. Price the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Parker, was considered one of the prettiest girls in the township. Mr. Price is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Price, thus they represent two of the county's pioneer families.

Mr. Price recently retired after serving the Pennsylvania Railroad for 50 years as telegraph operator and dispatcher. Following the retirement, they disposed of their Erie property, where they had resided for many years, and moved back to Garland. They are remodeling the old Price homestead, situated on a hill overlooking the valley.

Time has touched them lightly and they are still Claude and Mary. Price, old friends who join in wishing them, as they travel together down the sunset years toward the distant horizon, much peace and happiness.

They were the recipients of many beautiful gifts to remind them of their many well-wishers. They are the parents of two sons, Elwin, of New York City, and Gerald, of Java Center, N. Y., both of whom were present. They have nine grandchildren, eight of whom were present, the missing grandson being in Japan in the service of his country.

There were present, also, about 25 railroad men, former fellow-employees, all of whom heartily toasted the honored couple with every good wish.

A granddaughter, Eleanor Price Nichols, who the couple raised from infancy, came with her husband from California to be with them on this occasion.

Gold and Fizzdale

It's a long story about Gold and Fizzdale, the duo pianists who will be presented by the Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce music committee as the fourth attraction on this year's concert series. The artists have been changed, the date has been changed, and here's the way and wherefore of same . . . Originally the Jaycee committee had contracted for the two-piano team of Braggiotti and Chalkin as its closing number and the date had been set for April 4. Only three weeks ago, Fred Thompson, music chairman for the Jaycees, was notified that the team had broken up and Mr. Braggiotti was now appearing as a solo attraction.

Rather than accept a soloist when two pianos had been promised, the Jaycees terminated the contract and began a search for a replacement. The National Concerts and Artists Corporation, which provided the first three very fine concerts, was approached and, although it is late in the season, was able to provide the team of Gold and Fizzdale on April 14.

Arthur Gold and Robert Fizzdale have been proclaimed by critics all over the country, including those in New York City. Virgil Thompson, of the Herald-Tribune, writes of them: "Duo Pianism reached heights in the work of Gold and Fizzdale hitherto unknown to the art!"

Chuck Tranter, Jaycee president, states the music committee will continue with another series next fall, with a membership campaign to be gotten under way following the final concert. Those who will follow the same general lines as this year, with three fine concerts guaranteed and a fourth if another sell-out occurs as it did this season. More of the plans will be announced between now and April 14th.

Those who hold memberships in the series are reminded that there are no seat reservations and that admission is by membership card only.

Boy Choir Giving Concert Tonight At McClintock

Many friends in the community are eagerly anticipating the concert to be given by the Warren Boy Choir in the McClintock school auditorium at eight o'clock this evening and others are going to be disappointed when they learn the ticket supply is exhausted and the seating capacity is entirely sold out for the event.

The affair is being sponsored by the McClintock PTA and will be under the direction of Byron Swanson. Numbers chosen to comprise the evening's program are announced as follows:

I. Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones, German melody; Lord, God Hosts, Weenerberg; All in the April Evening, Robertson; Choir. The Lord's Prayer, Malotte—John Davidson.

II. Vesper Hymn, Russian melody; Nobody Knows and Steal Away, spirituals—Choir. Open the Gates, Knapp—David Anderson.

Intermission.

Music by the Warren High School German Band.

III. I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen, Westendorf—William Carlson.

How Can I Leave Thee, Kucken; Arkansas Traveler, American folk song—Choir. Galway Bay, Calahan—Donald Smith.

IV. Southern Memories and Mobile Bay, old southern songs; Vire L'Amour, old student song—Choir.

Youngsville OES Has Installation

Youngsville, Mar. 29.—Youngsville Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, at its meeting on Friday evening had the annual installation of officers.

The ceremony was preceded by a delicious dinner served by Youngsville PTA in the Rebekah dining room of the IOOF hall. Tables were very attractively centered by tall tapers arranged in the shape of a star. Large stars in the colors of the order were also arranged on the tables and gold symbols of the organization marked the white napkins. Corsages were presented to the honored guests.

Dinner music was provided by Reid Detar, violinist, and Miss Edith Husted, pianist. Miss Nellie Anderson acted as toastmaster.

Those installed as officers of the chapter were as follows:

Worthy matron, Mable Chipman; worthy patron, Carl E. Anderson; associate matron, Bernice Chapel; secretary, Alice Streeter; treasurer, Jane Johnson; conductress, Vivian Smith, associate conductress, Evalyn Carr; chaplain, Hazel Stillings; marshal, Ruth Brazzell; organist, Louise Baker; Aids, Vivian Waters, Ruth, Clara Welsh; Escher, Doris Fosberg; Martha, Thelma Day; Electa, Helga Johnson; warden, Elmer Weber; sentinel, Thersa Crull.

Stitch - A - Bits' Party Marks Anniversary

Youngsville, Mar. 29.—Mrs. Lola Walter delightfully entertained the Stitch-A-Bits Club at her home for its March meeting, marking the 24th anniversary of the organization.

Although there was a good attendance, there was but one charter member present, Mrs. Warren Kay. This pleasant social group was organized 24 years ago by Mrs. Edna Peters, Mrs. Minnie Peters and Mrs. Nell Spear.

Mrs. Walter had prepared a surprise for the ladies of the club by inviting their husbands to join the group for the buffet dinner. A big birthday cake adorned the table and all watched as Mrs. Mary Kay, as the only charter member present, cut the cake. Mrs. Walter presented Mrs. Kay with a lovely corsage.

It was a meeting of reminiscence as Mrs. Gladys Swanson read an interesting history of the club, and others gave bits of color from their memories. While Mrs. Swanson was not a charter member, she joined the club early in its history, and next to Mrs. Kay has been a member longer than any other present.

Mrs. Mary Kay added to the memories of the club by showing a group picture taken in the early days of the club at one of its parties. The club is planning to keep a scrap book. A picture of the group was taken at the meeting just held, which meeting will be remembered by all present as one of the very pleasant occasions in the club's history.

Bridge was featured later in the evening with high prizes won by Mrs. Nina Hamilton and Joe E. Swanson; low by Mervin Craft; two-spot by Mrs. Pauline Halfast; and ten-spot by Mrs. Dorothy Crandall.

Sec. Johnson Plans Early Unification

Washington, March 29—(P)—Defense Secretary Johnson set out today to unify the three armed forces completely and quickly. As the first step of this crack-down, he told a news conference he is ordering the army, navy and air force to move at once to the Pentagon. Some agencies of those departments are scattered throughout the city.

They were already under orders to move to the Pentagon, but the approved moving schedule stretched out over two and one-half years. Johnson has told them to scrap the schedule and move now.

Johnson said he also intends to abolish many of the 800 boards and agencies set up by the army, navy and air force over a period of 30 days.

It probably will be possible to abolish 30 or 40 right at the start, he said.

A reporter asked Johnson if he has made up his mind what the "respective roles" of the Air Force and Navy should be.

The two services have quarreled over what bombing duties each should have in event of war. Johnson replied:

"I do have a pretty fair conviction. The three services are going to have a chance to argue me out of that conclusion in the next couple of days."

He said he plans to go to Key West, Fla., with the commanders of the three armed forces within the next week to confer with General Dwight D. Eisenhower, the temporary chairman of the joint chiefs of staff. Eisenhower went to Key West yesterday to recuperate from an illness.

Presumably, the talks there will concern the roles of the services under unification.

Johnson said he is giving Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, who has been chief of the material command of the Air Force, the job of coordinating the changes he plans to make.

Johnson took over the cabinet job yesterday. He and retiring Secretary James V. Forrestal have been the center of a series of ceremonies since.

Milk Prices Will Drop In Some Areas

Harrisburg, March 29—(P)—The minimum retail price of milk goes down a penny a quart in seven eastern Pennsylvania marketing areas, effective April 1.

The drop, ordered under the State Milk Control Commission's seasonal pricing system, also brings down the producer price 40 cents a hundred-weight (46 1/2 quarts) in the seven areas.

The one-cent decrease will include the Philadelphia marketing area, suburban Philadelphia area and the Lehigh, Reading, York, Lancaster, and Harrisburg areas.

Chairman H. M. Cobb, said the reduced prices will return to present levels July 1, and then go up another cent, Oct. 1. They will return again to present levels, Jan. 1, 1950, under the seasonal pricing plan.

Cobb explained that the seasonal system was devised in an attempt to stimulate production during periods of the year when cows are producing less milk. Milk production generally falls off in the fall and then jumps up during the so-called "flush period" of April, May and June.

WATERFRONT WORKERS IN NEW YORK STRIKE

New York, March 29—(P)—Fed mediators are seeking to settle a strike of 1,500 waterfront workers which has tied up an estimated $100,000,000 worth of raw materials stored in 300 buildings.

The men struck yesterday at warehouses handling a major portion of imports passing through the port of New York.

The strikers are members of three warehousemen's locals of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association (ILA). They refused to work because negotiations in a stockpiling case of their contract stalled.

Neither side changed its position at mediation sessions, federal mediator Thomas G. Dougherty said last night.

No joint session was scheduled for today, but Dougherty said he might contact management and the union separately.

HAS CLOSE CALL

Tarentum, March 29—(P)—No one could blame Mrs. Harold E. Elliott, 43, of Tarentum, RD 2, if she seems a bit nervous today. She drove her car over a railroad crossing here yesterday. Just after she got across, the auto stopped violently. Mrs. Elliott got out to investigate. She found her spare tire and rear bumper were gone. A freight locomotive had sheared them off.

NEW LIGHT CRUISER

Philadelphia, March 29—(P)—The world's most powerful light cruiser will join the United States fleet Monday. On that day, the U. S. S. Roanoke will be commissioned at the Philadelphia naval base. A sister ship of the U. S. S. Worcester, the Roanoke cost $20,000,000 and required over four years to build. She has a beam of 70 feet, displaces 17,000 tons and has a designed speed of 33 knots.

GROUNDHOGS BLAMED FOR RESERVOIR LEAK

New Castle, March 29—(P)—Groundhogs and the weather were blamed today for a reservoir dike break that sent nearly five million gallons of water gushing through a section of Neshannock township.

J. L. Matthews, superintendent of the New Castle Water Co., said groundhogs had burrowed into the earthen wall of the reservoir, which had been weakened by recent rains. Damage was estimated at $35,000. No one was injured. A few cellars and gardens were flooded.

The flood spent itself in less than an hour. At no time was New Castle without its regular water supply through pressure was low for a while. The escaping water left a hole 75 feet long, 25 feet wide and 15 feet deep in the reservoir wall.

He blamed "the apathetic and indifferent attitude of today" for mounting government debt, broken homes and empty churches.

Nummy Wooster turned in an unusual performance by posting three consecutive games of 189.

Butter Krust and Stroehmans are deadlocked for the league lead with 35 wins and 17 setbacks each.

Brown's Boots whitewashed Kinnears on Penn alleys last night to leapfrog ahead of the Stationers into second place on the league ladder, but Struthers Wells clung to the top rung by blanking Valones Shoes.

Bertie Thomas of the Printz squad led the league firing for the evening with her 160-197-187-544 series. Others cracking the three-game 500 mark were Vivian Stearning with 507 for Kinnears; Jeanette Harvey with 505 for Brown's Boots; and Peg Drivas with 502 for Struthers Wells.

Style Shop gained undisputed possession of the lead in the X-Servicemen's tennis league race by handing the second-high Mountain Top squad a four-point drubbing on Arcade alleys last night. The Habsdasher's compiled a 2658 match total on games of 880, 862 and 916, while the Mountain Top squad could pile up only 2294 sticks.

HOT STOVE BASEBALL LEAGUE Warren Chapter

Some 300 Warren district boys and their parents are expected to turn out tonight for the first big rally of the newly-organized Hot Stove Baseball League.

The rally will be held at the Warren Armory in Hickory street, starting at 7 o'clock.

The registration committee will set up tables at the armory at 6:30 o'clock to distribute membership cards to those who have filled in the registration blanks. Boys are reminded that their membership fee of 25 cents will be collected when the membership cards are issued.

Highlighting the program for the rally will be a talk by Ray Caldwell, former Major League star who pitched nine years for the New York Yankees and three years for the Cleveland Indians.

The program also will include a magic show by Chuck Tranter, WNAE newscaster, and several reels of baseball movies, including films of the 1947 and 1948 World Series.

LeRoy Schneek, program director of WNAE, also will be on hand to make a wire recording of a portion of the show for later broadcast.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the program, and adjournment will be around 9 o'clock.

The rally will be open to all boys between the ages of nine and 15 in the Warren, Starbuck, Pleasant Township, Venturatown and North Warren areas. Mom and Dad also are invited to attend with their boys, if they so desire.

The rally will mark the kickoff of the Hot Stove league program for the summer. The group is in the midst of a financial campaign in which funds are being raised to furnish essential equipment to teams which will participate in a Midget Baseball League for boys nine to 12 years and an Intermediate League for boys 12 to 15 years.

The funds are being raised through the sale of Sponsoring Adult Memberships (minimum contribution of $1.00) and through contributions from civic and fraternal organizations, industries and businessmen.

Smoky City Heavyweight Makes A Hit

New York, March 29—(AP)—In this era of the great heavyweight famine, many a professional ring manager today must be looking covetously at Bob Baker, the socking rug cleaner from Pittsburgh.

Baker furnished the punch needed last night to give New York an 8-3 draw with Chicago in the 22nd annual Golden Gloves battle of champions at Madison Square Garden.

At the same time, he impressed ringmasters as about the most promising amateur heavy to come along in quite a span.

He still is rough-edged, as boxers go. But he packs a tremendous punch in both hands, takes punishment well, and is fast and ring-wise.

He's not another Joe Louis, who came out of the Golden Gloves in the early '30s and went on to attain the sport's greatest heights.

He does stack up with such later Golden Gloves graduates as Bob Pastor, Ous Thomas and Roland LaStarza and seems far better equipped than these were in their amateur hey day. He also holds a verdict over Coley Wallace, the New Yorker being groomed for pro stardom.

The 22-year-old Baker banged out a three-round decision over Desry Sykes, a rugged, iron-jawed individual from Chicago, in the final fight.

Nailing his power-packed right home with effectiveness, Baker had his man groggy and reeling in the first round but couldn't put him away. Nevertheless, the Pittsburgh battler weathered a second round flurry by Sykes and staged a strong third and final heat.

KINER BEANED BUT NOT SERIOUSLY
Pasadena, Calif., March 29—(AP)—Ralph Kiner, the Pittsburgh Pirates' home run king, expects to be back in the lineup tomorrow minus that lump on his noggin.

The co-holder of the National League home run championship got beaned yesterday in an exhibition game with the Chicago White Sox. He singled in the seventh when he was struck in the head by a line drive from the bat of teammate Les Fleming. The smack kayped Kiner but he revived quickly and said he was okay. He was resting today.

NAME BACKFIELD COACH
Pittsburgh, March 29—(AP) John Chicknerne, Warren, Ohio, Pitt quarterback in 1938, has been named assistant backfield coach at his alma mater. He succeeds Dick Cassiano who resigned to become assistant to the dean of men.

San Bernardino, Calif., March 29—(AP)—Ted Beard, Indianapolis outfielder who powered American Association pitchers for a .301 average in 142 games last season, was getting a lot of attention from Manager Billy Meyer today as the Pittsburgh Pirates prepared to break training camp. Beard got four singles in five trips yesterday as the Pirates outlasted the Chicago White Sox to beat the American Leaguers 15-11.

Dodgers Get Gadgets Galore As Rickey Goes Scientific

VERO BEACH, Fla.—(NEA)—Members of the multiple Brooklyn squads—parent and farm—training at the wartime Naval Air Base here play cards, checkers, chess and dominoes in the evening.

During the day the Dizzy Dodgers—present and upcoming—strive earnestly to piece together, and make sense of, a gigantic jigsaw puzzle. Only Branch Rickey could have conceived a camp such as this. There are more gadgets than you see at an inventor's exhibition. Batters face three different types of pitching machines, and actually tee off.

The best of the pitching contraptions is the Foster, dubbed by the Superbas as Overhand Joe. This machine feeds overhand pitches only, and because balls come up to the plate as out of a slingshot, the athletes can follow something comparable to a pitcher's motion. Every pitch is over or near the plate. Ten of 12 are hit.

Iron Mike is what the regular and aspiring Brooks call the highly-formidable appearing Mosher pitching machine. This rubber-tired, three-wheeled contrivance is the spittin' image of a heavy machine gun from the Battlefields of Normandy.

While an electric wagon was repairing it, the clangs and bangs and smoke puffing from the barrel, stopped action on all four fields. It looked more like a fearsome weapon from Mars than a harmless device designed to give a baseball player batting practice.

IRON MIKE serves up curves and everything, depending on how the seam of the ball is placed in the fingers.

But like the Dick Porter machine, or bazooka, the trouble with Iron Mike is that the ball comes up to the hitter too suddenly. All he can do is shove the bat out there and meet it. There is no way for him to follow anything corresponding to the pitcher's motion.

The bazooka, operated by compressed air, is excellent as a fungo hitter, however, and by shooting long flies in practice may save coaches a lot of work.

Remember the old days when there were fungo-hitting champions? Flatbush candidates hit the ball from an elongated rubber-topped tee. The distance each man stands from the plate is actually measured by tape and fide.

This, of course, is to keep track of his stance, and try to make it fit all types of pitching. A lot of schooled baseball men can't understand why a young man simply can't be told to stand a little closer or a little farther back, but Mahatma Rickey, the great theorist, wants everything for the record, and that's the way it is being done in this most unusual of baseball training camps.

him, "because I spelled 'atom' correctly. The nine previous applicants had spelled it A-D-A-M." She admits, however, that it still is a shock to her every time she makes her contract.

Although she says she used no science when she made the contract on today's hand, she did use the right technique. The queen of clubs was opened by West—and, Mrs. Norris just decided not to play the ace or king. She put on the three-spade. When West continued with the jack of clubs, Mrs. Norris won this trick.

Now she did not have to guess about the diamonds or spades, because she still had the club suit stopped. As a result, all her opponents took were two aces and the queen of clubs. Had she won the first club trick and decided to set the diamonds, she could not have made the contract.
